Three tips for monitor happiness

Position is key

Ensure your monitor is free from glare and reflections

Eye level

Your eyes should be level with the top of the screen's viewing area

Arm's length

Keep it at arm's length (roughly) so you do not strain your eyes

Look into the future

Staring at one point places prolonged stress on the eye muscles. Every 20 minutes focus on a distant object for 20 seconds, allowing your eyes to relax and recover.

If you're dining, don't go 'al-desko'

As many as two thirds of office workers eat lunch at a desk. This is bad news for productivity and mental fatigue. So get up from the desk and hit the break out room!

Do you feel supported?

To help your back support your weight, your feet should be flat on the floor or supported by your knees, which should be positioned slightly lower than your hips.

Jump up and get down!

Get up and move around periodically so that you aren't using the computer for long periods of time without a break. A 10 minute break every hour should help!

Keep your keyboard close...

Ideally, your keyboard should be 10-15cm away from the front of your desk. If it's further away, you might consider making some adjustments.
